St George V Parramatta Rugby League Blockbuster Perth

2009 minor NRL Premiers, St George Dragons will clash with Grand Finalists the Parramatta Eels in a blockbuster trial game at ME Bank Stadium in Perth on Sunday February 14 according to hosts, the WA Rugby League.

The Dragons will use the Perth game to kick start their 2010 season against a confident Parramatta Eels who staged a stunning run in the final series this year to get through to the grand final.

The Perth season opener could not be better with two of the most popular sides in the NRL going head to head and International Rugby League Footballer of the Year Jarryd Hayne heading a big line up of star players.

The trial forms part of the WA Rugby League's drive to build the code in Western Australia and to continue gaining momentum in their bid for a Perth based NRL team by 2013.

The NRL will also use the opportunity to promote Rugby League's One Community Program, an initiative taking the game to the people and include local visits and clinics to assist the development of the local junior program for the state.

In 2009 the state saw 25,000 people turn out for the two NRL games staged in Perth, and it is hoped this number will build in 2010 with this game as well as the Rabbitohs home game planned for late June.

Fans can get close the stars and feel the hits and action up close at the revamped ME Bank Stadium, a fantastic venue for Rugby League in WA.

Both the Eels and Dragons will field their best sides Perth fans will be treated to an amazing rugby League spectacle.

A press conference is planned shortly to release full details.
